

Arguments for the use of GetMyInvoices

1. Complete records

Because GetMyInvoices automatically retrieves documents from the most diverse sources and stores them in one central location, records are always complete. Stored documents range from the phone bill over outgoing invoices all the way to scanned receipts.

2. Speed

Not only does promptness in accounting enable timely payments and effective cash-flow management, but highly topical analyses, too. GetMyInvoices provides documents virtually in real-time in the applications they are needed in – be that the bookkeeping software or the solution used by your tax consultant.

3. Accurate data

People cause typos – especially, when information has to be captured several times and transferred to different applications. GetMyInvoices automatically reads relevant information, like invoice date and net- or gross amounts, allows manual corrections if required, and forwards all information correctly.

4. Security

GetMyInvoices complies with the most up-to-date safety standards by using secure encryption technology for all communications and the storage of data. As well as that, the software automatically records when a document is imported from where, and who has edited or made changes to the document.

5. Perfect collaboration

Implementing the invoice management solution is easy. Cost-intensive employee training is unnecessary, since the interface is intuitively operable. Also, several staff members can use GetMyInvoices – from anywhere in the world, thanks to the cloud. The Communication Centre makes it possible to directly make enquiries concerning a particular document.

6. Advantage audit

Not all guests are welcome in a business – that definitely tends to go for auditors. When they announce a visit, there is always the worry that they'll view confidential data. Here, GetMyInvoices can offer you some peace of mind, since you can set up a separate access for auditors. More again, they have the option to verify everything in detail from a distance, as long as all other required steps, for example the procedural documentation, are duly complied with.

7. Cost-effective solution

Businesses can choose the GetMyInvoices package that suits their requirements best. The costs are lower than those of employing an additional staff member, even if they only received minimum wage. Also, the price of the package is deductible as business costs.

8. More time for the extra mile

When work-intensive processes in preparatory accounting are automated, employees are left with more time and energy to deal with additional tasks. This means that they'll be even better at convincing customers of services a
